This Windows gadget enables you to keep important notes in a fashion similar to that of sticky notes, but its also easily discoverable, thus not letting you miss important events. Tag: windows gadgets, windows gadgets user guide Windows 10 lets you make your Windows 10 device even more personal and secure. Through the use of Windows Hello, which enables you to unlock your device using face recognition and biometric information, and security features like Windows Defender, you can also protect your personal files. Taking advantage of a personalized Start menu that also shows information about your files and usage Windows Hello lets you log in to your Windows 10 device by using your face, retinas, fingerprint, or any other biometric information. With the use of Windows Hello, Windows 10 will also be able to recognize you and personalize the Start menu, your lock screen, and your sign-in screen. This personalization allows you to keep all your files organized, and to make your device easier to use. The personalized Start menu in Windows 10 brings together all the settings that allow you to customize your device and make it more personal. This includes the Start menu, the Settings app, and the taskbar. Start menu stays similar to previous versions Windows 10 does not bring any dramatic changes to the Start menu, but the personalized Start menu will make it easier for you to access all your files and applications. Still, the Start menu will keep its previous look, and contains buttons that will bring you to the same locations as the previous versions. Windows 10 personalizes your lock screen By using Windows Hello, you can unlock your device using your face, retinas, fingerprint, or any other biometric information. This will personalize your lock screen, and you can also set up custom notifications to show up when an app receives a new event. Windows 10 also brings you a personalized sign-in screen, where you can set up a custom background, and enable multi-factor authentication to use it, even if the hardware is far away. The apps and files you want to access will also be shown on your personalized Start menu, allowing you to keep them organized. Windows 10 will also organize your files and folders according to their file types, and automatically organize them into categories that you can use to make it easier for you to find them. Windows Defender Windows 10 includes the Windows Defender that works alongside the aforementioned biometric technologies to keep your device secure. You can see everything that happened on your device, and even decide if you want
